

HARD MASK METHOD OF FORMING A READER OF A MAGNETIC HEAD

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of forming a reader of a magnetic head includes multiple processing steps. First, a sensor is formed having an air bearing surface. Next, a hard mask is formed on the sensor extending a distance from the air bearing surface substantially equal to the desired stripe height of the sensor. Finally, a portion of the sensor not covered by the hard mask is removed.